

Inside
this issue

ALL TEAMS!

Photos, rosters,
schedules,
predictions & more!

The Barberton Herald

50¢

Thursday, August 29, 2013

Got a smartphone?
SCAN ME!

Author reaches achievement

Rich Muller
Herald Staff Writer

Barberton native Karla Tipton has reached the milestone many authors strive for. She is getting her first book published.

Born and raised in Barberton, Tipton earned a bachelor's degree in journalism from Kent State University. After graduation she moved to California, working for the Antelope Valley Press as staff writer and editor for 14 years specializing in rock journalism and historical feature writing. She is currently a software designer and tester at Edwards Air Force Base in California.

When not working at her "day jobs," Tipton writes fiction but remained unpublished until now.

Tipton's first book is "Rings of Passage," published by LazyDay Publishing and available on Amazon.com. It is a time travel romance set in medieval England.

